Summer Fallow Applications To End on June 5

The County Committee of the Randall County Agricultural Conservation Association has set June 5 as the last day for farm operators to file requests for approval of summer fallow acreage to be included in the 1948 program. It is thought by the committee that June 5 is late enough to have plans complete on every farm for summer fallow and feed crop acreage.

The committee expects to have enough conservation program funds to pay for such practices as terracing and contouring in addition to the unusually heavy acreage of summer fallow. Requests for approval should be filed in the county A. C. A. office on third floor of the court house.

The building of diversified terraces for the protection of sloping land against washing is being featured in the program and is expected to take a much greater share of the available funds this year. These terraces are built near the top of slopes subject to washing and are given enough grade or fall to the outlet end to empty off surplus water in heavy rains at a very slow rate so that no washing occurs. These terraces have been built on about 30 farms. About 15,000 acres have been permanently protected against washing. When these terraces are built, usually one terrace to each section, the farming pattern which follows the terrace line holds most of the water on the land. Only the excess which will run off in any case is drained away and that slowly so no washing occurs.

The building of diversion terraces is about a 50-50 deal between the land owner and the Government. The land owner is paid five cents per cubic yard of dirt moved in building terraces. The total cost is about ten to twelve cents per yard. All of the soil and moisture conservation practices under the present program are voluntary on the part of the land owner and involve no obligation as to crops grown or acreage.

Land owners who desire approval on diversion terracing should contact W. H. Upchurch, Administrative Officer, for the program in Randall county, or leave requests at the office.

School Which Sends Pupils To Pay Fees

Trustees and other interested citizens from sending school districts to the Canyon Independent School attended a meeting Monday night to talk over the tuition situation. The local school is confronted with a deficit of about $10,000 in tuition charges from the sending districts. Unless this amount is collected, the Canyon school will lack this amount of paying the operating costs for the year.

Trustees from twelve of the districts stated that they would raise the amount of tuition which has not been paid. Other trustees and citizens stated that it was their intention to pay the tuition amount in full.

Dr. R. A. Neblett, chairman of the Canyon school board, presided and stressed the importance that all tuition charges should be paid. There was considerable discussion of the problem of regrouping the school districts of the county in order that sending districts be made a part of the Canyon Independent School District.

The discussion was along friendly lines in order to develop the needs of such a move and what results might be expected. At the end of the meeting Dr. Neblett asked if there was any opposition to the proposal of having an election on the question at a later date. No opposition was expressed.

Water Guns Are Not Allowed in Olympic Theatre

A sign is displayed in the office of the Olympic Theatre as follows: "Check your water guns here."

A large assortment of water guns were noted piled in the office under the sign Saturday afternoon.

The restriction was made necessary when one of the patrons was given a blast of water full in the face from one of the guns. Other patrons have been sprayed by the water guns.

It has been noted that kids chased each other around the streets with water guns, giving the victims a soaking.

Police in cities have been alerted to put a stop to the practice of using water guns on passing cars. One car was nearly wrecked in Amarillo last week when the driver was blasted by a water gun as he drove along the street.

The practice is another of those dangerous pastimes of modern youth.

College Building Amendment Wins First Court Decision in District Court Trial Held in Travis County

Validity of an election last August at which voters approved a constitutional amendment making possible a $60,000,000 30-year college building program was upheld Friday by District Judge Roy C. Archer at Austin.

Two suits had been brought in 128th District Court by opponents of the amendment.

One was a suit to nullify the election. The other was to enjoin Atty. Gen. Price Daniel from approving any bonds issued under provisions of the amendment.

Judge Archer denied the relief sought in the election suit, which disposes of the other one.

Foes of the amendment, mostly West Texans, allege numerous irregularities in the election. The amendment provides that the University of Texas can issue $10,000,000 and Texas A. & M. College $5,000,000 in bonds to be paid for by returns from the university's permanent fund. It also allows four other state institutions of higher learning to issue bonds for buildings.

The bonds of the fourteen institutions will be paid for by a 5c general ad valorem tax.

Under the terms of the amendment, West Texas will receive 5.41643% of the income from the 5c tax. It is estimated that this will bring about $2,500,000 for the building fund during the 30-year period.

Regents are planning a building to start as soon as the case is completely disposed of in the courts.

Opponents of the amendment are expected to carry their case to the higher courts as soon as Judge Archer enters a formal judgment which is expected within a week or ten days.

It is expected that no bonds will be issued until the matter is finally settled, probably in the State Supreme Court.

National Guard Given Highest Official Rate

Company E, 142nd Infantry, 36th Division, National Guard of Canyon is well organized and is getting work done.

Last week Sgt. James Huffman went to Austin to pick up a jeep for use by the local unit. The first payroll came for the boys and they received their pay last Tuesday night. Clothing and equipment of all kinds has been shipped.

Lights have been installed for the drill grounds on the lots just behind the Legion Hall. Here the Units meet each Tuesday for drill. The public is invited to watch these drills, especially men between 17 and 25.

There are plenty of ranks open in the unit and all those interested are urged to come watch drills and to make inquiries.

Col. Hobart Murphy of Amarillo gave the monthly inspection in April. This inspection was the first time for him to give any excellent rating. He rated Co. E excellent on 3 counts.

The rifle range north of Canyon formerly used by the National Guard is being conditioned and will be open soon for use by the present unit.

Co. E. will go to summer camp at Camp Hood in August for 2 weeks.

University Of Texas Preacher Gives Sermon

Dr. Paul G. Wassenich, director of the United Christian Missionary Society's Bible Chair in the University of Texas, preached the baccalaureate sermon at West Texas State Sunday morning to a large audience.

Dr. Wassenich pointed out the opportunities of youth in this hectic age, and the obligations which were made possible by free obligation. When 100 pupils enter the first grade, only 5% are expected to attain a college education, stated the speaker.

The speaker made a clear analysis of the obligations which must be assumed by those who strive for an education.

Assisting in the services were Rev. Benjamin Bollman, Rev. Weems Dykes and Rev. Hubert Thomson. In the absence of President J. A. Hill, Dr. James J. Cornette introduced the speaker.

Amarillo Cars Are Wrecked in Randall But No Clues Found

Stolen cars in Amarillo are being wrecked in Randall county by unknown persons.

A few weeks ago stolen cars were used as bulldozers near Llano Cemetery, which is in Randall county. Posts were pushed over or broken off by the drivers before abandoning the cars.

Two stolen cars were used in tank maneuvers in a wheat field in the north part of the county Saturday night and abandoned when mired down following a rain.

Amarillo officers have no clues as to the guilty persons who are abusing the cars.

Whiteway Lights Will Be Turned On In Few Days

Standards are being erected around the square as a part of the new whiteway. This work would have been completed by Wednesday but was delayed by the rain.

Gordon Lyons states that the new lights will probably be completed this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Sykes left Saturday on a business trip to the West coast.

Rain During Week Benefit To Row Crop

Rain in Canyon from Friday until Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock totaled 1.96 inches.

The first rain fell Friday night, which amounted to .20 of an inch. Sunday was the hottest day of the season, but a shower fell during the afternoon which measured 23 of an inch.

During Monday additional showers brought .17 of an inch, with .07 of an inch falling Monday night.

Tuesday was the really wet day. Rain started early in the morning and continued throughout the day. The total moisture for the day amounted to 1.26 inches in Canyon.

Showers early Wednesday morning added .03 of an inch. This was the last reading before press time Wednesday, although showers fell later Wednesday morning.

This is the first time in almost a year that rain has fallen in every part of the Panhandle, and has extended over adjacent territory. The amount of moisture varies. While it was raining hard in Canyon Tuesday morning, there was no rain two miles of the city either to the north or the east. However, all sections have received a sufficient amount of moisture during the week to save the row crop and to provide for summer fallowing.

The rain came too late to save the great bulk of the wheat acreage. However summer fallowed wheat and some seeded wheat will make a good yield, according to present predictions.

Pappy O'Daniel Bows Out Race For Re-election

W. LEE O'DANIEL

Senator W. Lee O'Daniel thanked the people of Texas Thursday night for their support during the past ten years while he has served as Governor and U. S. Senator.

He entered Texas politics 10 years ago as an unknown, and has never been defeated. He has won the two highest offices in the hands of the people, Governor and Senator.

Pappy said that he was coming back to Texas to try to make a living for his family. While he has no intention of making another race for public office, the Senator stated that he was not burning any bridges behind him. He indicated that he might run again in the future.

Member nations of the western European Union are strongly demanding that the U. S. State Department back them in their fight to get Great Britain to devalue the pound. They insist that no workable economic union can be set up until the pound is pushed closer to its real value. Although the British demand $4 for one pound, the free exchange rate in Switzerland, for example, is between $2.60 and $2.80 for a pound.

U. S. Ambassador to Italy James Dunn, who did so much to help the De Gasperi government win the recent elections, may soon be pulled out of Rome and sent to Paris to replace Ambassador Jefferson Caffrey. Impending crisis in the French government and slipshod work on the part of Caffrey are cited as reasons for the switch.

George Keenan, the State Department's top adviser on foreign policy, no longer is fully convinced that U. S. will gain most by trying to isolate and bottle up Russia, while waiting for her to blow up internally. He went along with the idea that the United States should offer to talk again with the Russians.

The President discovered that technical denials of Russian moves to reopen conversations with U. S. could not squelch the political effect growing out of the fact of those moves. Pressure from church groups and business groups caused the President to make a gesture of willingness to talk, after earlier coolness to the idea of talking with Russian leaders.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles took part in the Blair House conference with George Marshall, Secretary of State, at which the U. S. note was drafted containing an offer to talk things over with Russia. U. S. in this note expressed a "readiness and eagerness" to make a contribution toward stability in world relations.

Cutworms, leaf hoppers, chafers, slugs.

Aphis, thrips and harlequin bugs. And among the worst I've ever seen Is the blitz-krieg beetle that bites the bean.

Others, no doubt, you could say the same of—Proliferous pests I don't know the name of.

Raiding rodents may steal your seeds, Blight's a foe, and so are weeds—

But the worst of all—that sly deceiver—

Is that little ol' bug we call spring fever!

Russia's V. M. Molotov jumped so fast at the chance offered by U. S. to reopen the diplomatic lines of communication that this country's diplomats were startled and somewhat chagrined. The Russians actually have been trying for four months to get back on speaking terms with the United States.

GREETINGS

TO newspaper people the symbol "30" denotes the end of a story; but more than that, it has taken on a half-mystical aura as a term signifying the ending of anything. And there is another symbol that appears at the bottom of every page of a story except the last. It is simply the word "more."

Your formal education may be completed now. For some of you, undoubtedly it is. That's "30." But a new story is beginning—a yarn of continuing work, an expanding mind and viewpoint, a gathering of experience, responsibilities and increased knowledge. It will have many pages, and at the bottom of every one will be written "more . . . more . . . more . . ."

Several Local Students In Cast Of Last College Play of Year

Speech Arts Building, on the campus of West Texas State, is the home of the Branding Iron Theatre. The building was erected last year by the government to assist the college in taking care of the veterans who attend West Texas State.

'Blithe Spirit' Scores Hit for Closing Play

To climax an outstanding drama season "Blithe Spirit" was presented in the West Texas State College Branding Iron Theater on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The college players did justice to the difficult Noel Coward comedy. Prof. W. A. Moore, dramatics instructor in the speech department, had chosen his cast from the group which had played leading roles or had been featured players in previous productions this season.

These hand-picked players read their lines in a manner seldom approached in amateur circles.

Jack Walker, graduate student of Samnorwood, directed the play.

On Tuesday evening Frances Lynn Townes, sophomore of Amarillo, played the lead feminine role as Ruth, the second wife of Charles, an English novelist played by Lin Welch, senior of Twitty. On Wednesday evening Beth Kimbrough, sophomore of Canyon, was equally as effective in the same role.

Madam Arcati, a spiritualist, was played by Katherine Brooks, junior of McLean. Edith, the maid, was played by Jody Marsh, junior of Crosbyton.

Other members of the cast were: Marvin Bowman, senior of Lefors, as Dr. Bradman; Frances Alice Harp, junior of Canyon, as Mrs. Bradman; and Mary Frances Colwell, junior of Canyon, as Elvira, the ghost of Charles' first wife.

Congressional labor experts are confidently forecasting an early wedding of the right-wing CIO and the AFL. With the biggest stumbling block—John L. Lewis—out of the AFL, Senate and House Labor Committee members think the merger can succeed and would benefit American labor.

The State Department has about completed a proposal to set up a new international atom control board from which Russia and her satellites will be barred. The new organization was in the works even before recent U. N. atom control negotiations fizzled.

Senator Harry Byrd, of Virginia, and not Senator Walter George, of Georgia, will be the recipient of support from Southern delegations in the Democratic Convention if the South does go through with its threat to bolt from President Truman. Mr. Truman, however, has the votes needed for nomination even if the South does revolt.

Dwight Eisenhower, former Staff Chief, could have been induced at one time to take the Republican presidential nomination. General Eisenhower, however, is very cool to the suggestion now being made that he submit to a draft as Democratic nominee. He considers himself a Republican.

Freedom Train Will Visit in Amarillo Today

The Freedom Train will be in Amarillo from 10 a. m. Thursday morning until 10 p. m. at night.

The train will carry historical documents which have never been allowed outside of their depositories in Washington, D. C. The train was organized in order that people throughout the nation who had not had the opportunity to see these historical documents might have the opportunity to view them.

A company of Marine Corps will be on duty throughout the day and night in order to keep the crowd moving and protect the documents from abuse.

All students and citizens interested in patriotic documents are urged to visit the train. It was originally planned that the train would visit 300 towns and cities throughout the nation. This number has been increased because of the popular demand of citizens throughout the nation that the train expand its itinerary.

Pro-Communist factions of the CIO have completed plans to bolt the union and set up an independent "third big union" in the fall. Sparked by leaders of the United Electrical Workers, secession will be preceded by a bitter smear campaign against CIO president Philip Murray, timed with the national political conventions.

Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott, chairman of the House Banking Committee, is investigating confusion in the G. I. home-financing setup. Wolcott's preliminary findings show that in many cases veterans have paid up to twice the real value of homes.

George Marshall, Secretary of State, is being told by Republican leaders in the Senate that he should go slowly in asking for funds this year to implement any new Lend-Lease program of arms for Europe. Secretary Marshall may have to be content this year with a broad statement of principle, expressing U. S. willingness to back up an alliance of nations of Western Europe.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, is advising the United States that Great Britain in April came nearer to balancing her dollar income and outgo than in any other month since war ended. Contract For More Gas Over Plains Sector

An announcement of interest to every user of natural gas throughout the area served by West Texas Gas Company, has been made by R. F. Hinchey, Lubbock, president of the company.

Hinchey disclosed that his company has entered into an agreement with El Paso Natural Gas Company to purchase natural gas from that company at two points in West Texas. This new supply of gas, he said, should be available before next winter and will enable West Texas Gas Company to meet winter peak-day needs of its customers throughout the area.

After these two connections are made, West Texas Gas Company will be drawing gas from five sources of supply. Multiple sources of supply of course minimize the incidence of temporary gas shortages which may occur when pipe lines break or mechanical apparatus may fail.

El Paso Natural Gas Company last year built a gas transmission line from Eunice, New Mexico, to California, and this year is extending a 24-inch line from Eunice northeastward to the Panhandle Gas Field. This new extension crosses West Texas Gas Company's transmission lines at two points; between Amherst and Sudan, and between Hereford and UMBARGER. It is at these two points of intersection that natural gas will be purchased by West Texas Gas Company. The gas so purchased will be natural gas from the Panhandle Gas Field and is expected to be available by November 1, subject to coal or steel strikes or other events which might delay completion of El Paso Natural's line.

"There still remain some few local bottlenecks," the gas company president said, "because the towns have grown so rapidly that some sections of transmission line have become too small to handle the greatly increased demands. We are intensifying our efforts to iron out these local deficiencies. We believe all will be taken care of one way or another before snow flies. If it's humanly possible, we'll certainly do it, because we sincerely want to take care of the fuel needs of our territory."

The gas company is operating, Hinchey explained, under a long-range expansion program calling for the installation of added facilities year by year as needs are anticipated.

"Facilities to be added in the immediate future," Hinchey said, "will include enlargements to several compressor stations, replacement of sections of the transmission lines with larger-sized pipe, and constant expansions to and modernization of the distributing plants."

The toughest obstacle to be overcome by the gas company's organization at this time is the obtaining of sufficient steel pipe, even at premium prices. Hinchey said, however, that his people are combing the markets throughout the Southwest and almost daily are buying pipe at widely scattered points.

These purchases consist mostly of small stocks of assorted sizes, but occasionally a really substantial purchase is made. For instance, a company crew is now at Camp Bowie removing some 45,000 feet of pipe purchased there from War Assets Administration. Sufficient progress has been made in this manner that company officials are encouraged to believe enough pipe will be secured to extend service this year to a great many new customers who want gas service, and to remedy the local bottlenecks mentioned.

Canyon High's Senior Play

Does there seem to be a mixup. Well there was but that all ended when the curtain came down on the night of April 22 when the Seniors gave their play "Accidents Will Happen."

Economists Are Predicting Even Higher Prices

Will commodity prices go up? Go down? Stay where they are?

Newsweek recently asked 50 leading economists, connected with business, labor, governmental statistical and educational institutions to forecast the price trend for the balance of the year. Twenty-six thought prices would continue upward; 14 said they will remain about the same, and the remaining ten believe they will be lower by the year's end.

Averaging the answers, the concensus is that prices won't change substantially one way or the other. That may be a disappointment to the consumer, who has watched his dollar shrink like wool in water, but it is completely understandable. Spending—by government business, and the individuals—goes to higher and higher peaks. The vast sums being spent for foreign aid and military purposes will further strain the supply-demand balance. And millions of Americans have a higher standard of living than they ever had before.

So, when you go shopping, don't expect to find a lot of bargains soon. What you will find, however, are merchants who sell you what you want at a far lower profit margin than most people realize. That is true whether you patronize the chains, the independents, the specialty shops, or anything else. The profits per sale are so small, generally speaking, that if they didn't exist at all it would make little difference in your purchasing power. Retail trade, whether we realize it or not, deserves much of the credit for the abundance that exists in this nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Thompson had as their guests Sunday Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Watts from Earth, her sisters, Miss Lo Wayne from Earth and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cole of Sudan.

O. W. Parker, Jr. will leave Sunday night for Wichita, Kansas where he will attend the fall and winter showing of merchandise offered for Western Auto Associate Store dealers.

Military Men Are Trained as Super Diplomats

The main purpose of any military force, naturally, is to fight if it has to, and to maintain itself in a state of constant readiness for whatever is to come. However, on occasion, the fighting arms can be used as an instrument of high diplomacy as well. They can implement and advance, by purely peaceful means, the policies decided upon in Washington in this time of delicate international balance.

As everyone knows, military figures have been called upon to fill a number of positions of vast importance, which normally would be held by civilians. General Smith, who was Eisenhower's brilliant Chief of Staff, represents us in Moscow. General Marshall, the architect of our war strategy, holds the most vital and most difficult job in the nation next to the Presidency. General Clay carries the burden of responsibility for us in Germany. General MacArthur is practically all-powerful in Japan. Officers of the U. S. Navy have been entrusted with the complex task of administering the Pacific Islands and strengthening the primitive economies of their peoples, which in many instances were disrupted by the last war.

There has been much argument, pro and con, concerning the wisdom of giving men, whose sole prior experience has been in the profession of arms, such appointments as these. The American tradition is that the military shall be apart from and subservient to the civil authority. Regardless of that, almost everyone agrees that the soldiers and sailors have done exceptional work. There are no saber rattlers among those in the key spots. And they have all shown the qualities of mind, character and decision that are now necessary.

So much for individuals. How an actual military body can be used to forward our diplomatic policy is vividly described by Demaree Bess in a recent Saturday Evening Post article. Called "Our Navy in Striped Pants," it tells how our big task force in the Mediterranean has turned it into an American lake—and has done it without land bases, without straining our ties with other countries, and without getting us too deeply involved in the internal affairs of Western Europe.

The attitude that governs this mission was obliquely expressed to Mr. Bess by a chief petty officer of long experience. "In the war, every sailor was a fighter," he said. "Now they tell us we are diplomats, and it is our business to be friendly with foreigners."

This is pretty largely true—though our Mediterranean task force, like all other naval units, is always in readiness for trouble. Today, our foreign commitments are greater and more involved than ever. We are the leader of a Western bloc of large and small powers which is being cemented together in opposition to the Soviet Union's Eastern bloc. In Mr. Bess' accurate phrase, "Our Navy is the visible symbol of our participation."

This is a ticklish business, but the Navy seems to be executing it effectively and with tact. Visits to foreign ports are always arranged for well in advance. If the local authorities feel that a visit would be impolitic at any given time, it is canceled and the fleet goes somewhere else. Now and then, a government will request a visit on some particular occasion, and the task force obliges.

American officers are careful to avoid political discussions when they gather ashore with their counterparts from Italy, France, Greece and the other countries. Shop talk—the problems that are common to every navy—dominates. This makes it possible for people of all points to view to get along fairly amicably.

As Mr. Bess points out, there are times when "our Mediterranean task force is required to show a sterner aspect." A while ago, for instance, bomber and fighter planes from the carrier Midway flew over and around the principal cities of Italy. They did this for three successive days, returning to their floating base between trips. This show of American strength was, of course, of great service to an Italian government which was trying to stop the communists.

Mr. Bess sums up our naval policy in the Mediterranean in these words: "...first, to show Europeans that we do not intend to desert them while they are comparatively helpless; second, to treat them in the meantime as allies, not as dependents. That policy has worked well, and our naval commanders see no reason to believe that it will not work equally well in the future."

The nation recently witnessed another and somewhat different kind of military diplomacy when the Russians made their effort to drive us out of Berlin without actually going to war. A weak and vacillating American commander might have let the Russians succeed; a firebrand might have chosen a course leading to the direct consequences. General Clay, as almost everyone seems to agree, acted flawlessly. He made no threats—but he was completely firm. He made it clear, in polite language, that we would remain in Berlin unless we were pushed out by force. He won.

This concept of diplomacy through the military is a new thing to the United States—at least, on so large a scale. But it seems to be here to stay.

Joseph Martin, House Speaker, at age 63, is finding that there are handicaps in being a bachelor while seeking a presidential nomination. Some party leaders are suggesting that Mr. Martin, as a bachelor, might lack vote-getting benefits that go with a family, both at campaign time and during White House occupancy.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg is building an impressive total of delegates who will be for him as second choice for the G. O. P. nomination. Friends and assistants of the Michigan Senator are busy in his behalf.

Woodrow Wilson originated the phrase, "To make the world safe for democracy."

Robert Taft and Tom Dewey have given more than cursory thought to the idea of getting together in event that neither can win a majority of Republican Convention votes on an early ballot. The alternative to getting together would be nomination of a third candidate.

"It Looks Like a Plot"

This scene from the CHS senior play has a mysterious air about it.

First Big International step by the Italian Government will be a demand for a new peace treaty. Backed by France, Great Britain and Belgium, the Italians will insist they cannot participate in the Western European Union unless they are permitted to rebuild their military strength.

U. S. Exports to Europe may be lower this year than last year. Biggest drops will occur in cotton textiles and grains. German, British and Italian mills account for most of the difference in textiles. French and German grain harvests are expected to be the best since 1938.

Consumers Pay Dividend For the Past Year

Frank B. Parker, manager of the Consumers Fuel Association, Inc., came into the News office Thursday and asked why so much noise was being made in Amarillo about $3,000 worth of merchandise being given away.

"Consumers has just declared dividends which amount to $9,000.
Since Consumers was organized, it has paid out $100,000 in dividends to the members," stated Mr. Parker.
The record is a most commendable one.

Most of the members attended the recent dinner held at the College Cafeteria when a detailed report on the finances of the organization was presented by the auditor and directors.

Consumers handles fuel oils at the main warehouse, and operates the elevator and service station under the name of Consumers. Stock in the organization has been sold to a large number of local citizens.
Mr. Parker has had report blanks printed on which all members will be given full information regarding the operation of their business. Mr.
Parker has been manager of the business for a few months, taking over this line of work after resigning as city clerk.

I do not understand the opinions of this court. I see no reason why I should be consciously wrong today because I was unconsciously wrong yesterday—Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson.

In most American cities it is illegal to be a child. Practically all childlike activity is forbidden by law, landlords and parents.—Prof.
Howard A. Lane, New York University.

King George V of England, Kaiser
Wilhelm II of Germany and Czar
Nicholas II of Russia were all first cousins.

cross-currents.

Hereford Minister Was Speaker at the Lions Club

The Canyon Lions Club met at their regular luncheon last Thursday, and were afforded a masterful and instructive address by visiting Lion Bob Ware of Hereford. Rev. Ware is widely known as pastor of the Church of Christ at Hereford, but has come into great prominence as a great civic leader and outstanding exponent of Lionism. Using as his theme the motto formed from the acrostic, he developed the words Liberty, Intelligence, and the phrase Our Nation's Safety.

Men have died quietly at home or gloriously on the field of battle for the preservation of liberty. Yet it is an even greater test of courage to live for liberty. "An informed citizenship is an absolute necessity for the safeguarding of liberty," the speaker declared. Citing also the Scriptural admonition, he declared, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Government regulation can easily become government strangulation. We do not want a dictatorship in America, as was first established in the Declaration of Independence. It was Voltaire who declared: "I may not agree with what you say, but I shall defend to the death your right to say it!" Minority groups are protected in this land of liberty, as contrasted with their persecution in a dictatorship.

Intelligent action is the cement that holds the national fabric together. A rabble rouser has no chance in an informed citizenship. Our schools, separated from religious domination, are a guarantee of growing intelligence in our citizenry.

The reduction of accidents is also imperative to our nation's safety. The death toll from highway accidents is an alarming symptom of imperative living. Education has a tremendous task in promoting human conservation and welfare. The bill of rights (first ten amendments to the federal Constitution) teaches respect for the opinions of all others.

Guests for the day included Mr. Weeks of Amarillo, with Lion J. B. Hickman; Lee McLauri, with Lion Worth Jennings; and Emmett Smith, with Lion Elmer Wooten.

J. B. Elliston Talked at Rotary Club on Palo Duro

J. B. Elliston believes that the Palo Duro State Park is the greatest asset to draw tourists that the Panhandle has. Mr. Elliston is a booster for the Park, and has been working on the project since it was first opened to the public in 1932.

Mr. Elliston formerly lived in Canyon, but has lived in Hereford in recent years. He has recently completed a trip through Canada and to the West Coast. He showed motion pictures of the Hereford country, and ended his pictures and talks with a showing from the Palo Duro. He stated that the Palo Duro made the greatest impression of all his showings.

The Rotary Club gave $125 toward the purchase of robes for the West Texas High Choir robes. The amount finished paying for the robes.

Visitors were: Troy Moore and R. D. Ford of Hereford; J. W. Holley, Bill Dell, W. H. Torrey, Joe C. Rogers, Arch B. Hunsley, Jim Rountree, John Hill, all of Amarillo.

METHODIST CHURCH
Rev. Joe Findley will teach the Men's Fellowship class at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and preach at the morning service. There will be no evening service.

CANYON DRUG

The diploma which you so proudly display today is more than an engraved scroll tied with fancy ribbon.

It is a symbol of your first harvest, representing the output of the years of study and effort entailed in your school career. The seeds of high ideals, toil, honesty, perseverance, faith and all the other rudiments of a good crop have been implanted in you during these school years. Carry these seeds with you as you journey into the world, and all your future harvests will be equally fruitful.

CONGRATULATIONS TO YOU, Graduates!

We could be cynical, instead, and offer you sympathy and commiseration at this commencement time, but there is too much cynicism already and too little room for it. Granted, it isn't a very pretty world right now—the one you'll be meeting soon. But it's the only one you have, and perhaps you'll be able to do something about improving it.

Give it a good hard try, anyway, will you?

Loss Of Social Security Cards Is Official Headache

In 1947 the Amarillo Office issued almost as many duplicate social security cards as originals in the 26 counties of the Panhandle.

Last year, 5978 duplicate cards were issued to persons who reported the originals lost or destroyed, John R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Field Office said.

During the same period, 7305 original cards were issued to persons added to the labor force of the Panhandle Area.

Out of the 5978 people filing for duplicate social security account numbers, there were doubtless several hundred employees who were delayed from going to work on new jobs because of having lost their account number card.

The only time a person needs to have his social security card with him is when he is going to work on a new job. "After the employer has a record of the name and account number on his card, the employee should put his account number card away in a safe place," Mr. Sanderson said.

Report here says that dollar-a-year men, if called back to Washington, will demand two dollars a year.

"All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players.
They have their exits and their entrances;
And one man in his time plays many parts. . . ."

With your graduation, the curtain drops on one role of what Shakespeare terms your "strange eventful history." You have scored a success in that role, and we extend our most heartfelt congratulations on your exit.

Now you are about to make your entrance in another phase of that drama called "Life." May you play your part well—may the principles of "good acting" which have been inculcated in you throughout the "rehearsals" of your school days serve as a constant beacon to guide you in fulfillment of your cherished goal. That is our wish for you, members of the 'Class of 1948, on this Graduation Day.

Thomas Denies Texas Behind In Education

By E. L. THOMAS
(Member Board of Regents, State Teachers Colleges of Texas)

I HAVE BEEN IMPRESSED with the flood of propaganda emanating from Washington, the apparent source of most of which is the National Education Association. It urges the need for federal aid to our public school system.

In observing the publicity I am convinced that the technique adopted is to send special stories to the press in individual states, tending to leave the impression that the state is seriously in need of federal aid. Often these Washington news stories have not been accurate as to the facts stated.

On April 1 an article appeared in The Dallas News from its Washington News Bureau, carrying this NEA statement: "In Texas 22.8 per cent of all men rejected by the armed forces were disqualified for educational deficiencies."

The same story puts the national average at 12 per cent. The fact is that, according to the selective service records, the rejections in Texas on account of educational deficiency were 13.6 per cent and not 22.8 per cent.

The only period of the war for which the selective service bulletins completely show the causes for rejection broken down by states is the period beginning in April, 1942, through March, 1943. During this period the rejections for educational deficiency in Texas were 13.6 per cent and not 22.8 per cent, as stated by the NEA.

THIS PROPAGANDA, distributed over the country, is constantly trying to leave the impression that down here in Texas and other southern states we are all growing up in ignorance and waiting for a Messiah to come from the Federal Government to put up the money to lift us out of our ignorance and our bondage. This simply is not backed up by the facts.

We are not only doing a pretty fair job for our public schools in Texas (and, by the way, we are going to do a better one), but we do not have anything to be ashamed of in what we are doing for higher education. The latest report available from the United States Office of Education gives figures showing expenditures by states for publicly controlled institutions of higher learning. California and Michigan are the only states in the United States putting up more money for these institutions than is Texas.

Here is another significant fact! The Statistical Abstract of the United States for the year 1947 shows, when it comes to expenditures for teacher training and for vocational education, that New York and Pennsylvania are the only states in the union which put up more money out of state and local funds for these purposes than does Texas.

THE NATIONAL EDUCATION Association in one of its publications made this statement: "The only cure for inequality and denial of educational opportunity is federal aid for public education. This should be provided under a plan whereby the National Government supplements state and local funds with enough aid to put the financing of public education on an adequate foundation in all school systems, and which distributes the federal aid in a manner that continues local and state control of the schools."

Read that piece of balm carefully, "and which distributes the federal aid in a manner that continues local and state control of the schools." Now whoever heard of the Federal Government distributing anything and not coming in to exert control over the distribution? Certainly a citizen is weak-minded indeed if he thinks this will happen.

THE SCHOLASTIC APPORTIONMENT in Texas for the current year, 1947-48, is $82,420,085. This is based on the 1946-47 census of 1,498,547 scholastics. Now the state appropriated for state equalization, H. B. 265, $18,000,000 for the current year. The state appropriated for vocational education in high schools, H. B. 542, $1,810,456. The local maintenance tax actually collected in Texas last year (and it will probably be about the same this year) was $49,571,430, and the local bond tax is $11,486,841—total state and local funds $163,288,812.

If you put this on a basis of scholastics, it amounts to $108.96 per scholastic. If you figure this on a basis of enrollment instead of on a basis of scholastics, it is $131.16 per capita. On the other hand, if you put it on the basis of average daily attendance, it is $154.10. These are not "juggled" figures. These are actual facts based on the record.

TEXAS IS A GREAT STATE. We are making remarkable progress in improving our educational system. But there is one thing we do not want: We do not want federal money to help do the job, because where federal money goes federal control will go, and Mr. Mussolini and Mr. Hitler both gave us a brilliant example of the results of turning the youth over to a centralized government to educate.

Through the process of talking about federal aid we have done a wonderful job of administering an anesthetic to the tax-paying public to make them believe they are getting something for nothing. They think that if they get federal aid, it doesn't cost them anything. The Bureau of Internal Revenue facts don't justify the conclusion.

For instance, in 1947 the Federal Government collected in taxes down here in Texas in round figures $1,131,000,000 and, according to the report of the State Comptroller of Public Accounts for that year, the Federal Government gave us in aid and grants for highways, old-age pensions, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, health, and aid to education, a total in round figures of $88,000,000. Of course, there were some other miscellaneous grants made directly from the Federal Government that did not go through the state, but this ratio of $13 to $1 represents the dollars passed thru the Comptroller's office.

So in round figures for every $13 we paid in we got $1 back. You will never get rich by paying a man $13 to get him to give you $1 back.

Rails Strike Would Affect All Americans

Just how long could this country keep going without its railroads?

The answer is simple—even a relatively brief stoppage of rail transportation would disorganize and paralyze the whole economic machine. The services of the airlines is limited to sizeable communities with adequate landing fields—and even if modern planes were capable of working from hay fields, which they are not, they aren't adaptable to carrying the heavy freight of the nation. The water carriers are slow, and are also limited in scope to ports and inland waterways. The busses and trucks perform a valuable function—but, again, they render an auxiliary service. Only the railroads are capable of moving swiftly, cheaply and safely the great bulk of freight and passengers in peacetime—and of backing up our military forces in time of emergency.

This is the vast stake America has in solvent, progressive railroads. That stake is shared by farmer, manufacturer, retailer, consumer—everyone in the country. In one way or another, the railroads have a bearing on all our jobs, investments, opportunities. The hundreds of thousands of miles of steel rail which link every corner of the nation can be logically compared to the veins and arteries of the human body. They carry the sustenance which keeps us going.

The duty of labor, government, shippers and all other groups to help as best they can to keep our railroads sound is clear. A financially sound and capable railroad industry is the life blood of our economy.

Three Girls From Umbarger Graduate at Wichita, Kans.

Pauline Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bracht; Theresa Anne Beckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckman; and Georgia Lindemann, daughter of Mrs. Arline Lindemann, all of Umbarger, will be graduated May 26 from Sacred Heart academy, Wichita, Kansas.

Pauline Higgins was exchange editor and reporter on the school paper, Sacred Heart Echoes.

During the past year Theresa Anne Beckman took piano and voice.

Georgia Lindemann was reporter and on the advertising staff of the Echoes.

These girls formerly attended the high school in Umbarger.

A leading business service is warning clients: (1) Price trends as a whole will continue firm to lower until the defense program gets going on a bigger scale. (2) British and other foreign produced steel will be competing with U. S. output within a year. (3) Steel's backlog of unfilled orders is surprisingly low—only five months' production.

Look for downward price trends in foods and dairy products followed by building materials after a further mild rise. Livestock, fuels, industrial materials and metals will go up. Grain prices will depend on weather. A big corn crop may lower meat, poultry and egg prices this fall, but not enough to break farm purchasing power.

Cotton farmers in East and Southwest are rushing to plant more acreage. They can sell all they can produce this year: 3 million bales to clamoring mills in Paris, Milan, Liverpool and Rotterdam besides 9 million bales at home. Today's market price, close to the 27-year high 38¢ a pound—means another good year for southern farmers.

Short-term extension of Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act is probable. H. J. Heinz, president of H. J. Heinz Co., Pittsburgh, favors a longer period, perhaps three years, to permit sound business planning.

Basic facts back of ceramic optimism are these: Industrial construction will run high for 15 years. Need for offices, warehouses and stores and for $100 billion worth of churches, schools, public and private hospitals cannot be satisfied within less than 10 years. The industry will share in this program by providing glass, tile, bathroom fixtures, electrical porcelain, porcelain-enamel appliances, dinnerware and art ware.

The ceramic industry, now ranking 11th among the nation's 19 billion dollar industries, is getting ready for an enormous expansion. Its products are fast replacing steel, lumber and other building materials. Expected increase in porcelain-enamel, glass and undecorated china-ware output in 1948: 30%.

Department store buyers just back from abroad predict European dinnerware will never regain the important pre-war place it had in the U. S. market. Reasons: high prices, one- to three-year delays in deliveries, shortage of decorating gold, lack of skilled labor and materials.

Production will continue "at or near an all-time peak" until July 1, with profits close to the 1947 level, according to the National Industrial Conference Board.

Railroad men are plugging a program for better packing of rail-shipped goods to cut damage claims which topped $120 million last year.

PAPPY IS OUT!

There was no particular surprise in Texas over the fact that Senator W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel bowed himself out of the race for re-election to the office of United States Senator from Texas. Pappy has been the unpredictable during the 10 years since he jumped into political prominence, and has been elected to the two top jobs within the gift of the people of Texas—Governor and United States Senator.

Those who have watched the antics of Pappy have been amazed at the manner in which he has been able to twist political affairs around to his own credit.

When he was elected Governor, he proclaimed that he was an honest man. Even his bitterest political enemies admitted that he was telling the truth, and that he was really an honest man, in spite of his utter ignorance of state affairs. He was fearless in handling the affairs of state, and regardless of the situation, O'Daniel could twist the facts around to prove that he was the really big man down Austin way.

When he went to Washington, Texans expected big things of Pappy—that is, those who voted for him expected him to revolutionize public affairs, while his opponents pretty well knew that he would be a washout.

In bragging about his achievements Thursday night, O'Daniel pointed to his vote on public questions. He bragged of his accomplishments, which Texans generally recognize as amounting to practically zero, so far as achievements are concerned. But Pappy painted a brilliant picture, and a lot of folks believe in him.

He has not closed the political gate by any means. As a matter of fact most political observers are of the opinion that Pappy will soon find himself in the midst of another political squabble in Texas. He almost let it be known that he could be inducted to save Texas—again. The only sure fire prediction about Pappy is to say that he is still unpredictable, and that from all indications we shall soon have him in the midst of another political fray.

We see that a couple of fellows have been robbed in recent weeks of large sums of money. One was a lawyer, who just kept large sums around his office, while the other one was a wealthy bachelor, who is reputed to be worth a million dollars, and is giving his property away. In this instance the robbers lifted $146,000 from a little old safe in his country home. Same old story—"He was afraid to trust the banks." The fellow who lost $20,000 by carelessness piling the cash in a filing cabinet is not due much sympathy. He probably officed within a block of a good bank, where his deposit would have been insured. The old farmer lived in a state which saw many bank failures 15 or 20 years ago, and he was just naturally suspicious. While he was amply able to stand such a loss, it is amazing how old prejudices will make otherwise cautious and sound business men very, very foolish. Put your money in a bank, where it belongs, and be safe.

Old Tack, Gene Howe, of the Amarillo Globe-News is getting old. He is out of step with the youth of the Panhandle. Tack came down to Canyon last week to see the 1948 Buffalo football team in the final practice game. He was highly impressed with the Buffalo team, but the uniforms of the Buffalo Band—oh, my, how those uniforms burned him down. He called them all kinds of names, and then took in the uniforms of all bands, except the cowboy outfits of Hardin-Simmons. Old Tack should come to the campus of West Texas when 20 to 25 bands are here. He would throw a wild-eyed fit if he looked over the assorted assembly of colors worn by the high school bands of the Panhandle. So long as the schools like these bands, no one else need complain, since it will be of no avail should their fine esthetic senses be shocked by such a show.

Frozen foods have hit hard sledging because of a big publicity drive to sell more fresh produce.

A few years ago those of us who like the smell of printing ink boasted that few strikes had ever been called by the printing profession. That was only a few years ago. But the typographical union has changed in recent years. There are more and more strikes in the daily newspaper field, and among the big printing establishments. The typographical union used to be a separate union, but is now affiliated with AFL. There are a lot of members with CIO leftist tendencies. The result is that daily newspapers are installing typesetting machines, which do away with linotype operators. Two big newspapers in Texas have installed these machines and are getting out regular editions. All of the Chicago papers have been using the system since last October. Because of excessive demands of these city unions, newspaper publishing has become a very hazardous business.

An architect stated the other day that building prices were too high at the present time for building. He advised that building wait. The statement is amazing. Supposing all Americans should suddenly decide to stop building. Just see what would happen to industry in America. Contemplate what would happen of the laboring men without any expansion or public improvements. Too high? Certainly building costs are out of line, and must be reduced in order that more people may enjoy homes. Some public buildings are awaiting lower prices, such as hotels and other structures which must rely entirely upon public rents. Other types of construction are on the march, regardless of what the public thinks of building at the present time.

In a national broadcast the other evening, an actor stepped out of role and urged young people to consider the teaching profession as they mapped their life's work. He pointed out that the teacher is doing one of the greatest jobs for the future of the nation. It pays a good salary, with future security. The advice was good. Those who believe that they could do so much more for themselves in the mercantile line, have only to ask how much Uncle Sam is taking away from those who are engaged in so called more profitable vocations. And besides, the teachers of the land are building character—something that no tax collector can take away from the community.

Complaints that Gene Worley is not a good Congressman failed to produce an opponent. Those who looked over the district were convinced that the rumblings did not mean votes. A few throaty individuals can make it appear that everyone is against the candidate. While people are worried about the continued drought and would like to blame the lack of rain on Congress, common sense teaches us that Congress is doing a pretty good job, considering the fact that presidential election comes in November.

It is predicted that the name of General Eisenhower will be the first presented to the Democratic National convention. In this manner opponents of President Truman believe that they can start a stampede which will carry the convention for Eisenhower—in spite of his repeated denial that he does not seek the nomination.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

A REMINDER

The people of our democracy cherish above all else the right and determination to live under the banner of freedom. Let us, on this Memorial Day, reaffirm this right and purpose for which the Americans whom we gather to honor each year, gave their lives.

We see that Martin Dies is about to offer himself on the political altar of Texas as a sacrifice in the race for United States Senator. Martin has been asking to run ever since he found himself in the peculiar attitude of having to quit the House of Representatives just before the voters of his district applied the political veto of his career. Since Martin is no longer acceptable to the voters of his own district, just where would he expect to land in a state-wide campaign. So far Coke Stevenson holds the lead in the Senate race, in spite of the pleas coming from new dealer Lyndon Johnson—running on the record of a dead president.

The union leaders of Texas will meet about the first of June to draft a candidate to oppose Governor Jester. Joe Steadman, legislative head of the Railroad Brotherhood, gives this announcement. The unions do not like Jester. They do not like O'Daniel, therefore he will not be drafted for a fight against Jester? Whom shall they get? Another weakling, who would have to call in the union boys every morning before breakfast in order to map out the day's program! The rank and file of Texas voters will not be enthusiastic over such a candidate, should one develop.

It is amazing what boys will do for a thrill. We have been wondering just which boy or girl in Canyon would be killed in this insane "ditch-ern" game played with cars. One girl is probably a cripple for life as the result of such a craze. The latest thrill risk is disclosed by Santa Fe officials who plead with youth not to drive their cars on the rails. No one knows when a fast Santa Fe train will kill every person in the car which is driven on the tracks.

This is Commencement Week in Canyon. Scores of young people will receive diplomas from our splendid schools. Those who receive their diplomas from the two high schools will, no doubt, plan for a college career. They will find that while high school is essential, it is merely a stepping stone to greater things. Those who win college degrees will find that the life which confronts them on the outside will have much tougher problems than they have faced in college. But they are one step better prepared than they were before starting in college. Good luck, and best wishes to one and all.

since the Park has been operating under the bond issue authorized by the last session of the legislature.

U. S. Ambassador Bedell Smith, in his talks with Mr. Molotov, missed the point completely when Mr. Molotov suggested Big Two discussions to settle the "cold war." Mr. Smith's confidential report to the State Department makes no mention of the Molotov idea that the U. S. and Russia get together. What the United States really expected was that Mr. Molotov would want another meeting of the Big Four, including France and Great Britain.

There is growing criticism inside top levels of Government itself over the fact that men thoroughly experienced in diplomacy are having little to do with shaping or executing U. S. foreign policy. Crude methods used to try to reopen channels of communication with Russia are described by diplomats as very unprofessional.

I am running for nothing but oblivion.—Secretary of Defense Forrestal.

Political leaders in both parties are becoming disturbed by the prospect that in the 1948 campaign they may not be able to compete with one another in promises to get "tougher" with Russia than their opponents. The fear of politicians is that the voting public won't whip up so readily to a high pitch of alarm if the Russians are suggesting that a basis be sought for talking over differences.

James Forrestal, Secretary of Defense, is showing the wear and tear of his job for the first time, whether in peace or war. Mr. Forrestal is having the greatest difficulty trying to keep Air Force officials in line. He also is getting the brunt of criticism, whether justified or not, for shifts in United States policy with regard to Palestine.

President Truman got stage fright at the idea of a possible conference with Joseph Stalin in an election year, after the U. S. offer had been accepted, accounting for his virtual disavowal of the offer contained in the statement drafted by Secretary Marshall and leading Republicans.

Miners Have Other Benefits Than Pensions

The controversy over the coal miners' welfare fund, which John L. Lewis used as an excuse to shut down the industry and deprive the country of some 40,000,000 tons of badly needed coal, has probably produced confusion in some minds. As an example, a great many people have come to believe that the miners have no other protection for their old age.

That is not true. The coal miners, like other industrial workers, are covered by the Social Security Act, and are entitled to the retirement benefits it provides. The miners, due to their high wage scales, will receive maximum or near maximum payments.

Coal miners are also covered by state unemployment insurance, and with few exceptions, by workmen's unemployment compensation insurance which protects them in case of temporary or permanent disability from accidental injury. And at least six out of ten miners, according to the Bituminous Coal Institute, have prepaid medical and hospital care for themselves and their families.

Consequently, the $100 per month retirement fund, which is paid for by a royalty of ten cents on each ton of coal mined, is in addition to all these other benefits. It puts the coal miners in a preferred position compared with the great majority of workers. Whether or not the pension fund is justified—and the fact that all of it is paid by the operators and none of it by the miners raises a strong doubt as to this—may be a debatable question. But it is a certainty that all the specific benefits the miners have won must be reflected in higher coal prices.

A pink elephant, a green rat and a yellow snake walked into a bar. "You're a little early boys," said the bartender. "He ain't here yet."

There's still twice as much trouble in a quart as in a peck.

FACT FABLE

Once upon a time there was a sailor who really liked the Navy. He seemed perfectly content—possibly because he had a girl in every port. His shipmates envied this fellow who had a girl in every port because he was always happy. But this sailor died very young because he made one fatal mistake: In one port he had two girls!

Moral: Don't over-do anything.

A white-collar worker, pressed for payment of a bill, explained that his delay in paying was due to business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax and excise tax. He said this condition was due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, corporation laws, in-laws and outlaws.

Improvements on Methodist Camp Grounds Made

Rev. E. A. Irvine, Camp Director of the Methodist Camp Grounds, is presenting to members of the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference at Lubbock, a printed report of the operations during the past year since he took charge of the camp. The camp is located on the Ceta Canyon, 20 miles southeast of Canyon. Permanent improvements include: Modern bath house, completely furnished, with 200 gallon hot water storage tank.

Fifteen cabins, equipped for camping.

Warehouse and workshop where all kinds of mechanical work needed on the camp may be done.

Installation of pressure pump and tanks.

Building a concrete culvert across the creek. Visitors may drive on the farm-to-market road toward Way-side, and have only 2½ miles of dirt road to reach the camp.

Adding electrical refrigeration, and complete kitchen facilities.

Improved health and safety facilities, and repainting of tables, seats and other facilities throughout the camp.

Insurance secured to cover all campers.

Approval of the Conference Committee in a $65,000 improvement program.

Rev. Irvine is highly pleased with the accomplishments of the first year that he has served at the camp. Last year more than 2,400 persons registered at the camp, and larger delegations are expected this year. Each week during the summer has been slated by various groups over the conference.

Barkley, Rayburn Will Preside at Demo Convention

Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky was named temporary chairman of the National Democratic Convention to be held in Philadelphia in July. He will make the keynote speech.

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas was recommended by the National Committee to be permanent chairman. The convention will name this officer. Rayburn was Speaker of the House while the Democrats were in control of Congress.

The National committee denied that the section of these two had anything to do with the southern revolt against President Truman.

Rayburn is running for re-election, and has two strong opponents.

CONGRATULATIONS SENIORS

Randall County 30th in State For Bond Sales

According to a report issued May 15th on sale of U. S. Treasury Bonds, Randall county stands 30th among the 254 counties of Texas. Hockley county heads the list of bond purchasers, selling 199.6% of the original quota set for the county. Fourteen West Texas counties are ahead of Randall among the 29 counties which lead Randall.

Randall county has sold 51.3% of the quota set aside for the bond drive. However, it is noted that while the quota of Hockley county, with a population of twice that of Randall, is set at $39,581, the quota of Randall county is set at $60,618.

Those who set the county quotas refuse to recognize the fact that practically half of the population of Randall county either live within the boundary of Amarillo or are within a few miles of Amarillo. This makes the quotas for Randall county entirely out of line with those counties of similar population.

Dr. A. K. Knott
Is Commencement
Speaker at Tulia

Dr. A. K. Knott of West Texas State delivered the commencement address at the Tulia high school last week.

Dr. Knott is president of the local Lions Club.

Maybe here's an Abe Lincoln story that you haven't heard:

Lincoln said of a certain judge, "He's so strict, he'd hang a man for blowing his nose on the street but he would quash the indictment if it didn't specify which hand he blew it with."

Everybody in Eastland is talking about oil.

Used to edit the paper at Eastland many years ago so the other day I re-visited the "old home town" and was amazed to find the place is "really stepping out."

One company, they told me, has leased 40,000 acres in the county. That's a lot of land and indicates a strong belief in future oil possibilities—and there have been several blocks of 8,000 acres each.

Eastland County was the scene, back in 1918-20, of one of the biggest oil booms in history. Wouldn't it be odd for the county to have another real oil rush after 30 years? And yet it seems quite possible.

We told recently of the sideshow which advertised "See the horseless carriage," this being in the early day of the automobile which was known as the "horseless carriage." Folks paid their quarter and saw a buggy drawn by two mules.

This reminded a reader of the Carrizo Springs Javelin of a similar "sell." E. C. Smith writes from Redondo Beach, California about a side show along about 1900 in San Antonio which had a sign reading "See the horse with the tail where his head should be." People paid their dimes and saw a horse with his tail tied to the trough.

Grass and Trash
Fires Should Be Closely Watched

Trash and grass fires are on the increase, warned Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

"With hot, dry weather upon us, even more losses from fires will be suffered in Texas unless precautions are taken with these two types of fire," he stated.

He stressed that both fires are extremely dangerous in warm weather as they spread twice as fast and have more to feed on.

After urging Texans to strictly follow city ordinances where no type of burning is permitted and a system of city garbage pick-up is used, he said that in other communities trash and rubbish should be burned in a covered metal or wire container or an incinerator.

"Even then, someone should stand and watch the fire until it has safely burned itself out," he suggested. "A garden hose should be kept nearby in case the fire gets to surrounding grass or weeds."

He emphasized the importance of calling the fire department first, the minute the fire gets out of control, and then fighting it while getting expert help.

Damage amounting to well over $12 thousand was done in 37 grass and trash fires in March. In February there were 13 such fires and the loss figure was a little over $3 thousand.

"Also increasing is the number of home and garage fires caused by exposure to grass or trash fires," Hall noted.

Flying brands falling on roofs has been the main cause of exposure fires, he said, in again stating the necessity for trash being burned in a covered container and someone standing by until the fire dies out. He urged that inflammable roofs be kept in good repair.

"Live cigarettes and matches being tossed into weeds or grass is the primary cause of grass fires," said the commissioner. "Vacant lots and alleys should be cleared of weeds and high grass to eliminate this hazard to surrounding homes."

David Warren Is Impressed With Museum Work

The following editorial in the Panhandle Herald by David M. Warren, the publisher, discussed his new work as president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

Another year's work began last week for the Panhandle - Plains Historical Society. The year running from May 1948 to May 1949 is one of special significance to the Panhandle Herald Editor, as he is serving as the new president.

It is not with any special enthusiasm that this writer becomes the new president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. There is enough work to do with one's own business and other activities to make it unnecessary to take the added duties of the Historical Society's presidency.

Another way of looking at things is to recall the blessings that have come through living almost 30 years in the Panhandle of Texas. It has been a pleasure to live in the Panhandle for practically one-half of the history of the region—or the period from the time farm settlers arrived.

The Historical Society is probably the most important regional activity for a common basis of its citizens. Each county has had a history and has had a part in the development of the Panhandle-Plains.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, organized in 1921, started out with the intention of getting some of the early history recorded and some of the relics preserved. The Society has achievements probably far beyond the uncertain plans of the founders.

The museum has no superior for a regional organization. The work for the next two or three years will require the fullest cooperation from all counties. Around $50,000 will be required to complete the second unit, including display cases. The Society has about $16,000 available, so there is a challenging work facing members and friends of the Historical Society.

Carson county has shown much interest in the museum and Historical Society. It is hoped that this interest will never lag, for Carson county has as colorful a history as any county in the Panhandle of Texas.

Jim Griffin Will Be in Canyon On Tour of State

Jim Griffin, six-foot, three-inch farmer and one-time teacher who is J. E. McDonald's only announced opponent for the office of state commissioner or agriculture, will be in Canyon on Friday, May 28 during a 3,000-mile tour of West and Central Texas and the Panhandle area.

Griffin, born on a farm near Kemp, in Kaufman County, returned from World War II duty in the Maritime Service to a farm near Mission, Texas, where he grows vegetables, citrus, and cotton. He is married, and the father of one son. The 30-year-old candidate has traveled more than 14,000 miles campaigning since he announced April 10 against the 67-year-old McDonald, who is seeking his tenth term in office.

Advocating an advisory council made up of representatives of those who grow and process the major agricultural products, Griffin is also in favor of strict administration of measures to protect Texas against plant diseases and insects, greater emphasis on soil conservation, a reorganization of the state agriculture department, and the formulation of a statewide policy for proper conservation of water resources.

Griffin, who has appeared before many of the state's leading agricultural groups, has promised to lead the most aggressive campaign ever conducted by any candidate for the office of state commissioner of agriculture. His campaign slogan is "a public official should be a public servant. The office of state commissioner of agriculture must be returned to the people of Texas."

More and Better Telephone Service
For CANYON . . .

A new switchboard position and 100 new lines have been added at the telephone office here. More telephone operators now can handle your calls during busy calling hours. In addition, we will be able to speed telephones to many who are waiting for service.

We've installed a lot of telephones here since the end of the war—more than 350. Canyon now has 1,019 in service, nearly double the number in 1941. But more people here have wanted telephones than ever before. New orders for service have poured in faster than we can connect them. As a result, although we have added 350 telephones here since V-J Day, the waiting list has grown from 31 at that time to 54 today.

That's why we're hard at work putting in more equipment here... as much as we can get, as speedily as possible. Each new piece of equipment means more telephones. There'll be no let-up until everyone in Canyon who wants a telephone has one. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Good Health Must Be Maintained For Active Living

"Although we may not be sick, we may be far from being well. There is a great and vital difference between high and buoyant health and the health of the average person, or of one who is only well enough to be out of bed." Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today.

"Unless we have the essentials of health in our daily habits of living, we are as sure to pay the penalty of impaired health, sickness and early death as we are of cause and effect in other situations," Dr. Cox continued. "We should ask ourselves, 'How long do I expect to live?' 'How long can I retain my efficiency, both in work and play?' 'Do I want to become incapacitated soon after middle life?'"

The alternative, according to Dr. Cox's statement, is to adjust one's program of living to insure the fundamentals of health and thus barring accidents, keep young and retain active efficiency to an age of 70 to 80, or more.

The essentials of health are simple: sufficient fresh air and sunlight, good food and food habits, regular exercise and adequate rest. Yet, in checking the health of thousands of individuals who considered their health good, it has been rare indeed to find a single person who did not habitually disregard one or more of these essentials. Therefore, no matter how good or poor our health, we should check our daily program of living for health habits that are essentially faulty but of which we may be unaware.

Ten Suggestions For Gaining Attention

By Dale Carnegie

Getting and holding the attention of your listeners is the important thing in influencing them. Here are some suggestions that will help you to get and hold attention:

1. Visualize your audience ahead of time and determine just what approach you should make to interest that particular group.
2. Make courtesy and respect for your audience your keynote.
3. Approach your subject through the interest of your listeners. If you want to raise money for some project, show them how this project will benefit them.
4. Concentrate on the one big essential, the thing you want to accomplish.
5. Forget yourself when talking, think only of your subject.
6. Get attention by asking a few questions, the answers to which will convince you of the advisability of what you want to accomplish. (Don't overdo this.) If your audience is timid, pick out someone who would appear to have self-assurance and direct your question toward him.
7. If possible, praise an effort that has already been made in the direction toward which you are aiming.
8. Select some emotional aspect of your subject and play it up. Speak calmly, working in your emotion at the proper place, and determine beforehand where this place should be.

9. If questions are asked, treat them with respect. Too often a speaker loses the friendship of a questioner and sometimes the entire audience, by a supercilious attitude toward a query. If the question is not well expressed, repeat it in your own phrasing so that the other members of the audience will understand it.

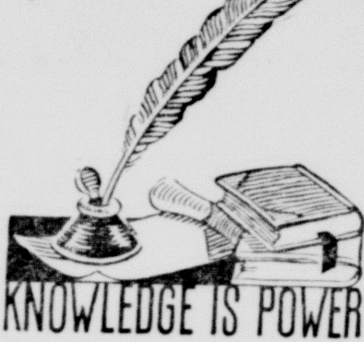

10. Work carefully toward your point, then SIT DOWN. Many a cause has been lost because the speaker oversold himself.

If you follow these rules, your speech will undoubtedly be successful. Neglect any one of them and the chances are you will flop.

William Wrigley, Jr., paid a $25,000 prize to George Young for swimming from Catalina Island to the mainland.

Rough Treatment May Be Meted to Hold-out Unions

Regardless of the ultimate settlement of the demands of the three "hold-out" railroad unions, engineers, firemen and switchmen, it is evident that these monopolistic labor organizations have shown an irresponsible disregard of the public interest and of the welfare of the railway labor as a whole, under the railway labor act.

It is true that the unions went through the motions of mediation, but they clearly violated the law's spirit. In the words of the Los Angeles Times, "the findings of the fact-finding boards are treated as meaningless." Railroad management accepted the board's finding and agreed to abide by wage increases and rules changes it recommended. The changes were also accepted by 17 other railroad unions. But curiously, the three unions which refused to accept the official finding of the government board, rank with the highest paid workers in all American industry.

This is an example of how to sow the wind and reap the whirlwind. Sentiment is growing for placing railroad labor under the Taft-Hartley Act, from which it is now specifically exempted. There is also an increased demand for special legislation governing labor in regulated public utilities—just as there is special legislation governing the management of these utilities. No nation can afford shutdowns of its basic medium of transportation.

These three recalcitrant railway unions have asked for tough treatment. The present temper of the people and the government indicate that they may get it. For once they should be made to abide by the findings of a government board as must ordinary people. Three times before, since 1941, the government surrendered to railroad unions instead of backing up its board findings.

States Should Be Allowed To Govern Workers

A spokesman for a retail association, testifying before a Senate committee which has been considering proposed changes in the Federal wage and hour law, made some very sound observations. He pointed out that retailing, whether carried on by large or small stores, is essentially intra-state and local in character and, where circumstances make wage and hour regulation desirable, it should be administered by the states. Going on, he said that retailing must be immediately responsive to the desires of the buying public, and that Congress cannot control the whims and wishes of millions of individual consumers. Those wishes are the reason for the many variations in working hours which stores in different communities must observe.

A wage and hour law which established too high a minimum of pay, or a too-short work week, or which was arbitrary and inflexible, could be a very serious problem to thousands of stores. On top of that, it could hurt the people it is supposed to protect by reducing opportunities for employment, especially among those without skills. And, lastly, it could give price inflation still another boost.

What is true of retailing is true of many other kinds of enterprise to some degree. It is one thing to prevent exploitation of the least experienced and least competent worker. It is a different thing to use the wage and hour law to throw the economy out of balance. And it is certainly true that regulation by the states, in most instances, will provide a far more realistic and workable policy than blanket regulation from Washington.

Paint Is the Best Protection For All Types Buildings

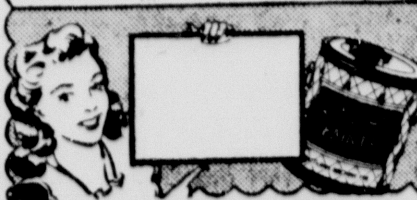

Painting a house or barn does make it look nice, but the real reason behind painting is to protect the building. If your home or farm building has not been painted during the past four or five years, now is the time to tend to that job, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural buildings engineer of Texas A. & M.

College. To let the job go any longer means the surface of the siding may need more careful and expensive preparation for repainting.

Local conditions play an important part in the selection of paints. For example, in warm, humid climates harder types of paint that contain greater amounts of zinc oxide usually stand up better than soft paint. And in the extra dry sections, it is the other way around. Soft paints containing mostly white lead are better.

There is a good supply of ready-mixed paint of high quality to suit local conditions, and it can be had in nearly any color.

Allen says to remember that a paint job is no better than the application. A good painter will take off the old loose paint and make sure the surface to be painted is dry before he starts his job. Even the best paint will fail if it is applied right after a shower or in foggy or humid weather.

One of the important things to do before starting a paint job is to be sure the paint is mixed right. Too much oil causes the paint to dry slowly, get dirty and fade. And, not having enough oil causes the paint to wear off rapidly. Cracking is caused by hard, quick drying paints. Wrinkles in the coat of paint are made by improper brushing of heavy, oily mixtures. Too much thinner in the paint of not enough coats will usually cause chalking.

Two coats of paint is all right

TRUE FUNCTIONAL DESIGN

True Functional Design is beauty with a purpose. For example, the STREAM-THRU fenders of the Kaiser or the Frazer are a style feature others have attempted to copy. But the real reason for the design has been overlooked. The true function is to provide more usable space without increasing over-all width. Only the Kaiser and the Frazer have more usable space. MORE SEAT WIDTH! . . . MORE HEAD ROOM! . . . MORE LUGGAGE SPACE! The Kaiser and the Frazer aren't the same old girls in a new dress—they're new from the road up! Best of all these modern cars from Willow Run are yours at no increase in price!
